After Hours Band Biography

Cher Ebersole Female Vocalist

Experience: I've always been into music since I was small. My Mom told me that the nuns in my school took me around to sing in front of the classes. I was in chorus in high school, and learned to play guitar. My neighbors used to sit in their driveway and listen to me singing along to the music of the day in the summer time.

Later on I would play my children to sleep with the piano while singing to them. When they got older, the kids and I would make our own music videos as well as other interesting projects. One time we did our own version of 'The Rich And Famous' we called ours, 'The Poor And Lonely'. I was with a band for a short while called Sometime Sunday. Mostly I've been doing karaoke and performing in some open jams.

I've done some singing at the Z Spot, and was in a play with the Theater For Young Audiences in 2008. I also played the tattooed lady in a play back in 1999.

Lately I've picked the guitar back up and am learning to play finger picking style with the hopes of bringing some of that into the group as well.

Influences: Sade, Nina Simone, Bonnie Raitt, Taj Mahal, BB King, Ray Charles, Mississippi John Hurt, Lightin Hopkins, Keb Mo.

Personal Information: I own a home in 'Sheboygan which I share with my two cats, Pasquanelle and Smudge. I am semi retired, enjoying music with my spare time.
